

Dear Mike,

I'd like to say that it was a great pleasure as well as a universally educational experience having "Can I Kiss You?" on our campus. The real world nature of your stories was compelling and poignant and they sent messages that every person should hear.

In the age which we live it is all too often easy to fall into a pattern of filling the stereotypes that have been laid down for our respective genders. "Can I Kiss You?" made it clear that every individual in every situation can find simple ways to avoid the complications that arise from typical dating debacles and the possible negative repercussions that undoubtedly follow.

"Can I Kiss You?" can be summed up as a program that mixes high level intellectual analysis of social situations with a general level of communication making the message clear to all who attend. The application of the lessons learned doesn't take anything special either.

Along with this letter, I send my commendments for a great program. We would love to bring "Can I Kiss You?" back to our campus to continue spreading the great messages that this presentation offers.

With best regards,
